Gunman walks up to Proctor Ave. home, then opens fire

Somebody shot an occupied house on Proctor Avenue and then walked away on Friday night. No one was hurt.

"It was a 'drive-by' shooting, on foot. Basically, a person walked up to the house and fired off a high powered weapon," said Lieutenant Scott McCartney of the West Sacramento Police Department. No one was hit."

The shooting may have been connected to arguments that the resident had had earlier with another person, who is a suspect, McCartney told the News-Ledger. As of yesterday, no arrests had been reported.

The shooting occurred within a few blocks of the Evergreen Skatepark and the school district offices in central West Sacramento.

Further details on the shooting and the suspect were not immediately available from West Sacramento police.

That "whooshing" sound you heard last Wednesday may have been the sigh of relief breathed by thousands of West Sacramento parents, as their kids returned to school after a summer break.

The Washington Unified School District in West Sacramento thus begins another school year.

One dead, one in custody after shooting on 600-block of West Capitol

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A man has died of his injuries after being shot in the head at about 2:40 a.m. on Saturday morning at the Welcome Grove Trailer Park.

West Sacramento Police Department answered a call that a man had been shot in space 50 at the complex. They found Matthew Smith lying injured inside that unit.

While police were setting up a perimeter, suspect Charles Quillin, age 21, walked up to them in front space 50 and was taken into custody without incident.

Police said they recovered the .32 caliber handgun used in the shooting – and firefighters who treated Smith found a .32 caliber handgun on Smith as well.

Smith was transported to the hospital, but later died of his injuries.

"Initial indications are that the suspect, Charles Quillin, and the victim, Matthew Smith, knew each other and were together at this location partying with three other subjects," said a press release from W.S.P.D.'s Lieutenant Scott McCartney. "During the party, both Smith and Quillin began to argue with each other. Sometime during the argument, Quillin shot Smith multiple times with a .32 caliber handgun. Quillin nthen left the residence.

The police interviewed several witnesses after the shooting. Anyone with information is asked to call Lt. McCartney at (916) 267-0710.

Vehicle catches fire in Southport garage, but home survives

West Sacramento firefighters responded to a Twitchell Island Road home on Aug. 17 after receiving the report of a car on fire inside the garage. They made sure no one was still inside and mounted a "quick fire attack," said fire department officials. The fire succombed and the home was saved.

Convicted of abuse

A West Sacramento man has been convicted on 36 counts of child molestation, for acts that occurred over a six-year period involving a girl who was seven when the assaults started in 2003.

Nang Sam, 27, faces sentencing on Oct. 7 in the Yolo County Superior Courtroom of Judge Stephen Mock.

According to the office of District Attorney Jeff Reisig, the victim testified that the abuse started when she was seven and continued until 2008, just before her 13th birthday. She eventually reported the abuse to an adult, and police investigated.

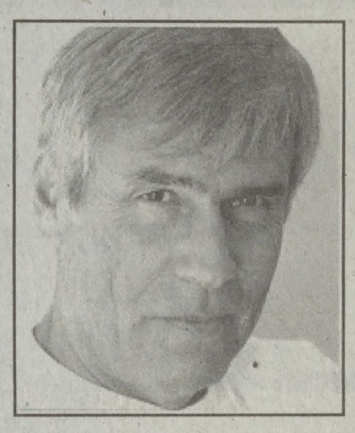
West Sacramento police "accumulated statements and cell phone information from Sam that ultimately confirmed for the jury the long history of sexual abuse reported by the victim," said a statement from the D.A.'s office.

Sam was arrested in February, 2011.

The girl was interviewed by the Yolo County Multi-Disciplinary Interview Center to obtain other evidence for the jury. The jury reached a verdict on Aug. 18.

Creative scamming

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

With the wonderful invention of the Internet, it was of course only a matter of time until there were Internet scammers. I guess Nigerian scams are now the most common and well-known. You know, where you receive an e-mail generally claiming that your help is needed to access a large amount of money, usually in the millions of dollars. In fact, this money does not exist, and the message is only an opening gambit designed to draw potential victims further into the scam. Those unfortunate souls who actually start a dialogue with the scammers by replying to a Nigerian scam message will eventually be asked for advance fees supposedly required to allow the deal to proceed. They often end up becoming victims of identity theft, too.

You don't have to be on the Internet to get scammed, however, and one of the most popular (and successful) scams nowadays has to do with a phone call placed to an unsuspecting grandparent (usually late at night) from someone claiming to be their out-of-state grandchild or another youthful relative. The frantic voice on the phone informs the grandparent that they have been arrested and thrown into jail for some minor infraction and that they are in desperate need of a couple of thousand dollars to post bail. They tell the grandparent that there is no one else at that hour they can call and only he or she can help them avoid spending the night in a jail with real criminals. Since the grandparent is usually not familiar with the voice of young relatives living far away, he or she often just assume that the person they are talking to is a real relative and quickly wire the money that has been requested. And if they do, it won't be long before more requests are made for additional money to help their grandchild-not with other expenses that have been incurred because of the arrest-not.

Many scams originate out of other people's suffering, including the ones which pop up after natural disasters like the flooding of New Orleans and the recent earthquake and tsunami in Japan. Those kinds of scams usually revolve around getting concerned and caring citizens to send money to fundraisers where generous donations end up in the hands of the scammers, and not those in desperate need of help. And scammers have no level to which they will not stoop, and very successful scams have been directed towards college savings funds, disabled people in need of wheelchairs, and even the relatives of those suffering from dementia and Alzheimer's Disease.

But the most successful scams usually require human greed to make them work. Be it those wanting some of the millions the Nigerians say they possess, or Bernie Madoff's victims eager to make 15% on their investments, or all the movie stars and sports heroes who throw their money into deals they think will make them richer than they already are, it seems to be human nature to chase after the gold at the end of the rainbow. Unfortunately, there is almost always a price to be paid for forgetting that old adage that if something sounds too good to be true, it usually is!

The most successful scams usually require the victim's greed to make them work. Be it those wanting some of the millions the Nigerians say they possess, or Bernie Madoff's victims eager to make 15% on their investments, or all the movie stars and sports heroes who throw their money into deals they think will make them richer than they already are, it seems to be human nature to chase after the gold at the end of the rainbow.

Anyway, since I am always interested in keeping my loyal readers out of harm's way, I will use the remainder of this column to pass along the latest scam that came across my desk. This one is apparently aimed at men around my age who are into home improvements and are regular customers at such places as Lowe's, Home Depot, and even Wal-Mart. Here is how it works:

Two very nice-looking, college-aged girls will come over to your car or truck while you are putting your purchases into your vehicle. Without your permission, they will start wiping your windshield, using rags and a bottle of Windex. They are usually braless and wearing very skimpy tank-tops or t-shirts and it is apparently next to impossible not to look.

Once they have cleaned your windshield (and reportedly they do a very fine job), the scam seems to depend on its victim being nice enough to offer them a few dollars for all their hard work, which most men of course will do. But the young women will then refuse to take the tip and instead ask simply for a ride to the local McDonalds or some other fast food restaurant, explaining that they are famished and in need of something to eat and drink.

Once the victim of the scam agrees to let the young women into his car, one of them almost immediately takes off her top and starts rubbing her bare breasts all over him. And while these unwanted advances are going on, the other young woman reaches over and steals their victim's wallet.

The first man to locally report that he had fallen for this shameless scam reported that it happened to him on June 4th, 9th, twice on the 15th, and again on July 1st, 6th, 22nd and 30th.

He also reported that cheap replacement wallets can be purchased at Wal-Mart for only $2.99, and that he also found some at the Dollar Store for only $.99 cents. Please warn all your male friends over the age of 55 or so to be vigilant.

Sac River Cats clinch division title, head for Triple-A playoffs

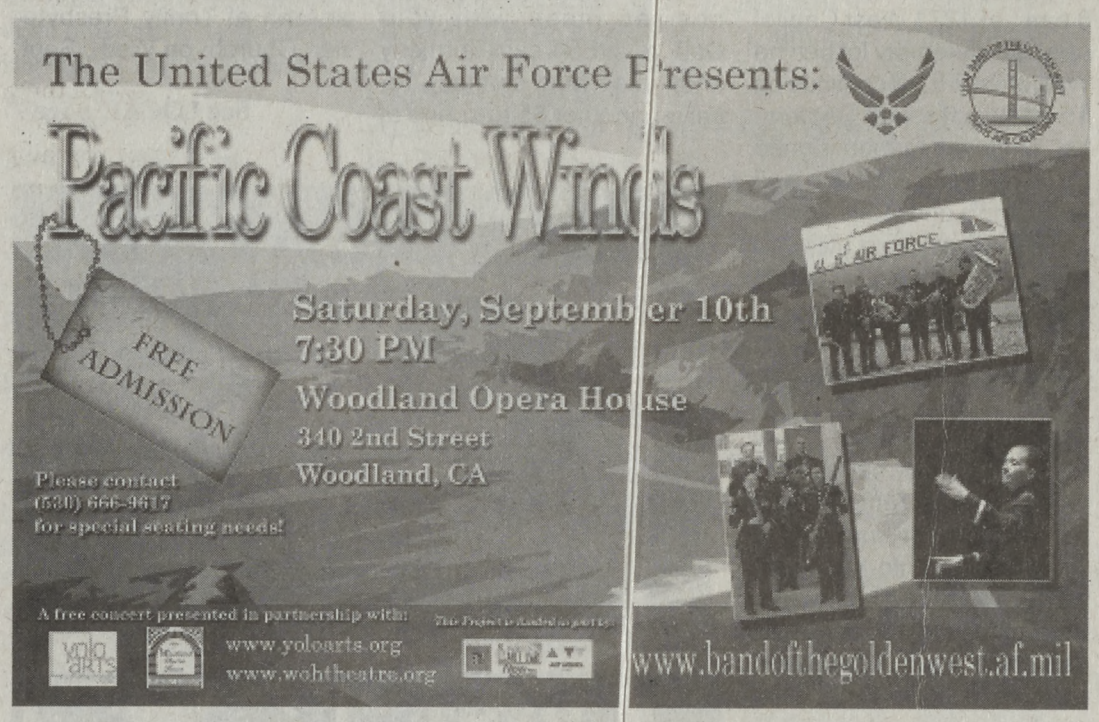
The Sacramento River Cats have clinched the Pacific South Division championship, returning home Monday to begin their final homestand of the season.

The Triple-A baseball team (an affiliate of the Oakland A's) is hosting the Las Vegas 51s, who are an affiliate of the major league Toronto Blue Jays. The homestand, and the River Cats' regular season, end on Thursday.

The team plays at Raley Field in West Sacramento.

A River Cats spokesperson said that the team is the first team in "major American professional sports (MLB, NHL, NBA and NFL) to win ten division championships this century," and that the team has also matched the record in the Pacific Coast League by earning five division titles.

Playoffs begin on September 7, with the River Cats traveling to the stadium of the league's North Division champion (to be announced). Tickets range from $7 to $60, and are for sale at the Raley Field Ticket Office, at www.rivercats.com/playoffs, and at Ticketmaster outlets.



Raiders drop game one, but QB places high in 'combine'

Well, they knew they faced a challenge.

The River City Raiders opened the 2011 football season on the road against the number-six ranked Whitney Wildcats last Friday in Rocklin.

Whitney took control of the game with a 26 point second quarter, and never looked back, securing a convincing 39-0 victory.

The RCHS junior varsity fell by a score of 19-14 in a spirited back-and-forth affair that included a 95 yard touchdown run by Kevin Burkes.

Both teams are on the road again this Friday evening, taking on the Center High School Cougars of Antelope.

On the brighter side:

River City High quarterback Joey Beall shone brightly in the Aug. 19 "KCRA 3 High School Playbook Quarterback Combine - North, held at Grant High.

Almost 40 quarterbacks participated, competing in multiple events including accuracy and distance throwing.

Beall's accuracy put him at the top of the leaderboard in round two, and he ended up tied with Roseville's Zac Cunha. The pair dueled in a 'sudden death' elimination until Cunha emerged as winner.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

A prediction for the Indian Center

The California State Indian Museum is in jogging distance of West Sacramento's eastern border. It's located near the walls of Sutter's Fort.

The museum is in a building that can best be described as small, modest and outdated – hardly up to the task of showing off history and artifacts from the 150 tribal groups that created most of the state's history before the Spanish and the Gold Rush.

This culture and history deserves a bigger forum and more room for display – that, few would question. This bigger forum is on the planning boards for a location in West Sacramento near The Rivers subdivision in Broderick. If it overcomes funding challenges and other problems, the West Sac site will become a state park and museum called the California Indian Heritage Center (CIHC).

There have been legitimate concerns from neighbors about traffic, parking, noise, security and aesthetics from the CIHC. Those concerns have been negotiated into some design changes which may not make neighbors entirely happy, but have mollified some worries.

But here's one of the things we learned while visiting the "old" museum last year for an interview with a state parks administrator: this stuff is really interesting. When you walk in the door at the facility next to Sutter's Fort, you realize you are in a pretty good place, despite the age and size of the building. You are greeted by a lot of fascinating displays – there are woven baskets, of course, but also dolls, carvings, and photographs. Each has a story to tell, and you want to linger and hear those stories.

It's a good museum.

If and when the new CIHC gets built, it will be even better. The CIHC will become a point of pride in West Sacramento. You will enjoy visiting it more than you think, and you will be proud to take out-of-town friends and relatives to the CIHC for a visit, a stroll, a picnic.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Teaching homosexual lifestyles

Senate Bill 48, effective January 2012, mandates that all California school textbook content include, and all teachers teach, in a positive, promotional way, homosexual lifestyles (gay, lesbian, bi-sexual, transgender, cross-dresser, drag queen) to all children K-12.

Don't be fooled. SB48 is not about bullying as some have portrayed it. Fact: Nowhere in SB48 is bullying mentioned. Fact: School charter laws already exist protecting against bullying. And it's not about history. It's about teaching homosexual lifestyles to children as young as your five year old kindergartener. And I have to ask, "Why children?" And I have to say, "No, not my great grandchildren!"

Help to stop SB48. Go to www.traditionalvalues.org. Copy, sign and mail the petition by September30. That's all the time we have to place SB48 on the ballot for the people's vote in June 2012. We can do this. "In God we trust."

GO FIGURE!

by Linda Thistle

The idea of Go Figure is to arrive at the figures given at the bottom and right-hand columns of the diagram by following the arithmetic signs in the order they are given (that is, from left to right and top to bottom). Use only the numbers below the diagram to complete its blank squares and use each of the nine numbers only once.

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEWS

BY SAM STRUCKHOFF

James McAvoy and Michael Fassbender as the future Professor X and Magneto in "X-Men: First Class."

"X-Men: First Class" (PG-13) -- "X-men: First Class" shows the benefits of starting fresh, besting its predecessors and easily taking the crown for best "X-men" film so far. Taking place well before the events of the first three movies, "First Class" focuses on two bright young men who want to make the world a better place to be a mutant: Charles, the future "Professor X" (James McAvoy), and Erik, who will one day become the supervillain Magneto (Michael Fassbender).

Set against the backdrop of the Cuban missile crisis, the film has sharp-focused tension carrying the film from one explosive action sequence to another. "First Class" delivers a master class in creating the superhero thriller.

"Everything Must Go" (R) -- Nick (Will Ferrell) is a nice guy; he's just hit a rough patch and perhaps drinks too much. In one day, Nick loses his job and comes home to find his wife has put all of his possessions on the lawn and locked up the house. Left with few options, Nick decides to open a beer and call it a yard sale, thus starting his journey to recovery and introspection.

This is a fine dramatic role for Ferrell, and he fills it in nicely. It's a tricky line for this serious comedy, but Ferrell walks it to success in both laughs and audience sympathy.

"Hanna" (PG-13) -- Raised in the wilderness by her ex-CIA father to be the ultimate assassin, Hanna (Saoirse Ronan) is a 16-year-old killing machine and a compelling argument for public education. Hanna's coming-of-age story revolves around her first mission, a sort of "Bourne Identity"-themed fairytale across modern-day Europe. Ronan is a young actress who is consistently impressive, even in this wacky-premised spy thriller. Cate Blanchett steps into a Wicked Witch role, playing the corrupt spymaster who wants to capture Hanna, or at least neutralize her.

"The Colors of the Mountain" -- In the mountains of Colombia, government troops and guerrilla soldiers maneuver around one another in escalating conflict. In a tiny village among the mountains, Manuel, Julian and their elementary-school peers just want to play soccer. "The Colors of the Mountain" is a slow-paced but well-made film about childhood innocence and the far-reaching impact of war.

First-time director Carlos C•sar Arbel‡ez uses the landscape and the quiet moments to build tension. Seeing a soccer ball roll off into a minefield -- and then seeing a group of boys carefully go after their only ball -- exemplifies how the film draws out the heart of the story.

It's honest. It's salty. It's laugh-out-loud funny.

It's Chris Jericho, back with more tales of life in the pro-wrestling business. And the rock 'n' roll business. And lots of other things, too.

His first book, "A Lion's Tale," vaulted him to the upper level of a unique group of wrestlers-turned-writers. "Undisputed: How to Become the World Champion in 1,372 Easy Steps" secures his spot next to Mick Foley on the top rung.

"A Lion's Tale" left off with Jericho set to debut in WWE, the premier U.S. wrestling federation. "Undisputed" picks up from there, with Jericho revealing how unpopular he was backstage as he tried to adjust to a different style of wrestling and a new way of projecting his character. The "Jericho Curse" of bad occurrences also re-emerged, further hampering him. Yet he eventually became WWE's first Undisputed Champion, a major career accomplishment.

The book is not all about wrestling, however. Jericho details his efforts to make his band Fozzy a major player in heavy-metal music. He also discusses the passing of his mom, his marriage and the birth of his three children. In short, it's the second installment of a life memoir.

Perhaps the most poignant chapter is the one about Jericho's wrestling mentor, Chris Benoit, who killed his wife and child and then himself. Jericho splits his emotions between remembering a person fondly and despising what that person did.

Like the first book, this one is set up for a sequel. Jericho, like Foley, is an entertainer whose success goes far beyond his in-ring work.

The Kitchen Diva

BY Angela Shelf Medearis

Basting meats and vegetables with a marinade is one of the best ways to infuse a dish with flavor. What does "marinade" or "marinate" mean? A marinade is a seasoned liquid mixture that adds flavor and in some cases helps tenderize tough cuts of meat. Some marinades are homemade mixtures. Other times they are bottled dressings or sauces.

Marinate also means to steep the food in a marinade. If the meat is a tender cut, marinate it for a short time, no more than 30 minutes, or you'll have a mushy, soft entree! For tougher cuts of meat, marinade for 8 to 12 hours in the refrigerator.

Whenever you decide to use a marinade on meats, place it in a re-sealable bag on a plate in the refrigerator. If your recipe calls for basting the meat with a marinade as it cooks, reserve some of the marinade that has NOT been in contact with the raw meat to use as a basting sauce. Otherwise, you are contaminating cooked meat with raw meat juices -- a food-safety NO-NO. Never use the same basting brush on raw meat and cooked meat.

To prevent cross-contamination, try applying the marinade with a spray bottle or a bottle with a squirt top.

The same contamination can happen when the plate that held the raw meat is used for transporting the cooked meat. Also avoid using the fork or turner that touched the raw meat to turn or check the cooked meat. It's best to use a different kitchen utensil each time, or rinse it with warm soapy water between uses.

This recipe for Multi-Purpose Basting sauce is delicious on chicken, fish, pork, beef and vegetables. It's inexpensive to make and enhances the flavor of grilled meats and vegetables.

MULTI-PURPOSE BASTING SAUCE

3/4 cup wine vinegar
3 tablespoons cooking oil
3 tablespoons finely chopped green peppers
1 tablespoon salt (optional)
1 can (6 ounce) frozen pineapple juice concentrate
1/2 cup dark brown sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons soy sauce (optional)

Combine all ingredients and simmer for 15 minutes or until mixture thickens slightly. Cool and seal any remaining marinade in an air-tight container, and refrigerate up to 2 weeks.

Before grilling, allow marinated meat to sit out at room temperature for 30 minutes. Cook the meat on medium coals or heat. Baste on each side the last 15 minutes of cooking. If you use this sauce as a marinade, turn the meat frequently to prevent burning, as the sugar content is high and browns (and burns) easily. Makes about 25 (4 1/2 ounce) portions.

(LO ESTA DEMANDADO EL DEMANDANTE):
BEA FRANCHETTO

You have 30 CALENDAR DAYS after this summons and legal papers are served on you to file a written response at this court and have a copy served on the plaintiff. A letter or phone call will not protect you. Your written response must be in proper legal form if you want the court to hear your case. There may be a court form that you can use for your response. You can find these court forms and more information at the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp), your county law library, or the courthouse nearest you. If you cannot pay the filing fee, ask the court clerk for a fee waiver form. If you do not file your response on time, you may lose the case by default, and your wages, money and property may be taken without further warning from the court.

There are other legal requirements. You may want to call an attorney right away. If you do not know an attorney, you may want to call an attorney referral service. If you cannot afford an attorney, you may be eligible for free legal services from a nonprofit legal services program. You can locate these nonprofit groups at the California Legal Services Web site (www.lawhelpcalifornia.org), the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courtinfo.ca.gov/selfhelp), or by contacting your local court or county bar association. NOTE: The court has a statutory lien for waived fees and costs on any settlement or arbitration award of $10,000 or more in a civil case. The court's lien must be paid before the court will dismiss the case.

Tiene 30 DIAS DE CALENDARIO después de que le entreguen esta citación y papeles legales para presentar una respuesta por escrito en esta corte y hacer que se entregue una copia al demandante. Una carta o una llamada telefónica no lo protegen. Su respuesta por escrito tiene que estar en formato legal correcto si desea que procesen su caso en la corte. Es posible que haya un formulario que usted pueda usar para su respuesta. Puede encontrar estos formularios de la corte y mas información en el Centro de Ayuda de las Cortes de California (www.sucorte.ca.gov), en la biblioteca de leyes de su condado o en la corte que le quede mas cerca. Si no puede pagar la cuota de presentación, pida al secretario de la corte que le de un formulario de exención de pago de cuotas. Si no presente su respuesta a tiempo, puede perder el caso por incumplimiento y la corte le podrá quitar su sueldo, dinero y bienes sin mas advertencia.

Hay otros requisitos legales. Es recomendable que llame a un abogado inmediatamente. Si no conoce a un abogado, puede llamar a un servicio de remisión a abogados. Si no puede Pagar a un abogado, es posible que cumpla con los requisitos para obtener servicios legales gratuitos de un programa de servicios legales sin fines de lucro. Puede encontrar estos grupos sin fines de lucro en el sitio web de California Legal Services (www.lawhelpcalifornia.org) en el Centro de Ayuda de las Cortas de California (www.sucorte.ca.gov) o poniéndose en contacto con la corte o el colegio de abogados locales. AVISO: Por ley, la corte tiene derecho a reclamar las cuotas y los costos exentos por imponer un gravamen sobre cualquier recuperación de $10,000 o mas de valor recibida mediante un acuerdo o una concesión de arbitraje en un caso de derecho civil. Tiene que pager el gravamen de la corte antes de que la corte pueda desechar el caso.
